

I'M TRYING

CALEB

(he/him)

sometimes it feels like you're already going through enough already but everybody has their own opinion and tries to pick you apart.

a girl's every move is being watched and judged no matter how hard she tries and at the end of the day she just needs help, not critique.

